

POP STOP

Pop Stop can see it now: Child star breaks into acting, age three. Adored by audiences for his chatty personality and precocious behavior, by age five he's a fixture on the variety and talk show circuit, raking in big bucks from endorsements and special appearances. And then, well just ask Gary Coleman or Macaulay Culkin.

Recent comments by child star Hsiao Hsiao Bin (小小彬), 5, the stage name of Wen Hsuan-yeh (溫玄燁), suggest that his innocent exterior may already be cracking.

While other prepubescent kids are calling girls yucky, a "mature" Hsiao Hsiao Bin seems to have the ladies on his mind, according to a NOWnews report.

"Did you see any pretty chicks?" he asked Blue Lan (藍正龍), referring to the latter's recent trip to the Cannes Film Festival. Lan, caught off guard, quickly changed the subject. Perhaps it's time for Hsiao Hsiao Bin to follow the example set by his Autumn's Concerto (下一站·幸福) costar Van Ness Wu (吳建豪), and sign a "celibacy card."

In other Hsiao Hsiao Bin news, the little tyke appeared last week at an event promoting road safety tips. He even received a "driver's license."

But perhaps a little more walking is in order. The Apple Daily reports that the muppet wanted to go on a diet after his grandmother complained that he looked fat on television.

His father chipped in with a lone voice of reason amid the fame-hungry, moneygrubbing denizens of the entertainment industry, with words to the effect that five-year-olds shouldn't need to go on a diet.

Of course, much of the little rascal's on-screen antics are prompted by his handlers, which could be cause for concern because as he grows up, who knows what kind of behavior he'll be parroting?

And speaking of exotic birds, Sina.com reports that Cecilia Cheung (張柏芝) will return to work at the end of this month, six weeks after giving birth to her second son, Quintus. The Hong Kong beauty, who featured prominently in a sex photo scandal in 2008 involving Edison Chen (陳冠希), will head off to Shanghai to promote a bedding company, which seems all too appropriate.

Her ability to parlay the tarnish of a sex scandal into an honest day's graft is to be lauded. And why stop at bedding? Watch out for Cheung plugging Hsiao Hsiao Bin, the founding — and so far only — member of Taiwan's first brat pack.

Crocodile tears don't come easy to Jay Chou.

feminine hygiene products, condoms and lingerie in the near future.

Meanwhile, leggy supermodel and "actress" Lin Chi-ling (林志玲), 35, took top honors in FHM's sexiest woman in the world contest. This follows her win late last year for having the best boobs in Taiwan.

Apple was quick to point out that in light of her struggling movie career (Lin's most recent film, The Treasure Hunter (刺陵), flopped) she should stick to the catwalk.

Pop diva Jolin Tsai (蔡依林) came in fourth, followed by Patty Hou (侯佩岑) and Amber An (安心亞), who took sixth and eighth places, respectively.

Another Taiwanese star who might want to stick to one career is singer, producer, actor and director Jay Chou (周杰倫). His recent television series Pandamen (熊貓人) bombed. But the Chairman said in a recent interview with U Weekly (優周) that his greatest problem in the entertainment industry is not with directing, but crying, going so far as to say that he'd "rather shed blood than tears."

If thinking about Pandamen's abysmal reception isn't enough to make him blubber, Chou might consider taking lessons from Hsiao Hsiao Bin, who is said to be able to cry at the drop of a hat.

THE VINYL WORD

BY QUEEN BEE

What are the odds of catching two big-name drum 'n' bass DJs in the same week in Taiwan? Very slim, but that's what's happening this week. Following Sub Focus' appearance at Spark last night, Digital makes his much-anticipated Taiwan debut this weekend. He canceled a planned gig here in April because of the transport chaos that a massive cloud of ash from Iceland's Eyjafjallajökull volcano caused in Europe.

A reggae DJ in his teens, Digital's mixes are pregnant with dubby bass lines.

How did he get into producing drum 'n' bass? "I just sort of faded into it," he said. "I used to be a raver. I started producing in 1994, and it kind of got lucky with me. With my first track (Spacefunk), people like LJ Bukem, Storm and Fabio started playing it."

It wasn't until a few years later with the release of the massive single Deadline that Digital became a household name among drum 'n' bass aficionados. The jungle veteran is currently working on a track with Outrage and producing an album for Kiwi dub band Salmonella Dub.
